

Be Seen
Be Heard
Be Connected

At Ricoh, we understand the demands required to provide flexibility to the modern workforce, especially for those who work remotely.

Providing remote workers with the tools to be able to communicate clearly and work productively is vital. A laptop equipped with a built-in camera and microphone may seem an easy solution to this. But what if you could make their working environment even more professional and enrich their communication experience?

A dedicated webcam ensures outstanding video in any environment. Desktop audio conference devices or the latest noise cancelling headphones tune out unwanted noise providing a richer, clearer audio experience and the addition of a second monitor allow your workers to be more productive in their day-to-day tasks.

Contact Ricoh Communication Services today and enable your remote workers to be seen, be heard and be connected.
